At the Crawford,

If you want to forget the cares of the would for a couple of hours, it's a tenshot that you will be in on "Holty when it comes to the Crawford

"Helty Tolty" may not suggest very much, but when is added the further information that it is Weber & Fields' enormously successful musical comedy, direct from their cosey little New York theater, you know then you are going to have the time of your life. You know that the music is bright, snappy and whistleable; that the chorus is wonderfully pretty and that this same chorus sings well; that it is often and agreeably on the stage, and that it dances well. The fact that the original, difficult and intricate business of that Napolean of stage directors, Julian Mitchell, has all been retained, insures this. There is just the suggestion of a plot, but it won't compel you to exert yourself in order to follow it. The conglomeration is said to be just the kind of after dinner entertainment that lovers of musical comedy insist on having.

JOHN GRIFFITH IN" MARETH!" John Griffith is exceptionally equipped to pertray in accordance with the popular ideal a certain set of tragic characters. "Marbeth" is a good sample of the lot. His faithful portraiture comes within the scope of Mr. Griffith's art, however, for no actor" is better qualified by nature and schooling to play the part. A face of marvellous versatility of expression, a figure freighted with supple strength, and a voice of remarkable range and clearness of enunciation are the gifts which this eminent tragedian backs with a thorough stage training and an unusual intellisence. "My babe was born seemingly a fair, healthy child, but when she was three weeks old a swelling appeared on the back of her head, and in course of time broke. It did not heal but grew worse, and the sore spread from the size of a dime to that of a dollar. I used all kinds of remedies that I could think of, but nothing seemed to help; in fact, it grew worse. Her hair fell out where the sore was, and I feared it would never grow again. It continues until my aged father came on a visit, and when he saw the caby he told me to get Cuti-

White Man Boasts of His Superiority Over Black.

More Lawlessness of Late Than in Former Times.

New York, March II .- In a public school address at New Rochelle, President J. G. Schurman of Cornell university has discussed what he considers the true elements of national greatness and expressed the belief that, so far as physical power is concerner, our nation leaves almost nothing to be desired. In referring to our respect for law and our regard for the rights of others, however, he said: "There has been in the last few years more lawicesness than those living in the present generation can remember. Lynching seems to go on apace. Ther are reasons given for this, as a matter of course. Some may it is because our children are not taught religion in the schools; others that it is due to the great immigration to our shores. To me there seems to be an entirely different reason for it. It is, I think, due to a certain amount of race depreciation-I will not say race hatred, which somehow seem to be still very potent in our blood. We still talk a great deal of the superiority of the white race. With an excess of passion, we still talk of the inferiority of the people with dark skins. It appears that the tiger is still in our blood and woe to the man who stirs him up. "We seem already to have forgotter some of the great principles for which
